PROJECT SHOWCASE

In Seattle's historical neighborhood of Pioneer Square, The Jack wraps seven stories of office space and ground-level retail with a blend of red brick, curtain wall and steel window units. Seeking clear views of Elliott Bay, maximizing daylight throughout the building's deep floorplate and transporting the natural tones of the sky and water to the interior, the architects wanted a neutral glazing color. Based on a strong recommendation from the team's façade consultant Front, Solarban 72 Acuity glass by Vitro Architectural Glass was selected.
